come to your senses

Ireland
Ireland is carpeted by lush landscapes and idyllic towns. But this land is also full of secrets. Just ask the locals and the stories will spring to life.

Every cairn has a story, every castle turret has a tale, every hill may hide heroic sagas. Hear them tell of the legends, triumphs and sometimes tragedies that whirl around its round towers, opulent mansions and prehistoric monuments.

ancient ruins and castles near and far

Down through the centuries, Ireland’s beautiful countryside has proved irresistible to the wealthy and powerful who wanted to leave their mark. Whether they were Norman knights, eccentric aristocrats or gamblers-made-good, their castles still dot the landscape. Saintly heroes, fearless warriors and wise kings – these mystical lands are home to many fabled figures of Irish history. You’ll find a story under every step, so it’s no wonder that even the stones here tell tales.
Your foot starts tapping, you order a pint and you settle in for music summoning images of a damp, windswept isle. You’ll hear music everywhere. It spills through pub doorways, out of upstairs windows and from buskers in the square.

It’s the Irish tradition of songwriting, the Irish way of life, the human way of life. Cram as much pleasure into life, and rail against the pain you have to suffer as a result.

notes of traditional songs and language

There’s no fixed pattern to when a session will kick off in a Dublin pub: musicians can turn up and play for as long as they like. Usually all they need is a corner, some chairs and a couple of people to listen – though by the end of the night the place will generally be packed to the rafters.

From buskers playing their hearts out on the city’s streets, to soulful performances in music shops, you’ll soon see that in Dublin, music is a shared passion.
With its location right on the Atlantic Ocean, Galway has an intimate relationship with the sea. Nowhere is this more apparent than at the little seaside suburb of Salthill. Here, locals take to the two mile long promenade for seaside strolls, and even a swim if you’re feeling brave! Tradition dictates that you should “kick the wall” at the end of the promenade for good luck, but if you don’t fancy that, then why not just grab some fish and chips, sit on the beach and watch the light change over the Atlantic. Finish up with a pint or two in O’Connor’s bar, filled to the brim with trinkets.

The past lingers in the air in old Galway, its city walls and the distinctive Spanish Arch give the city an ancient atmosphere. Follow the salty air that breezes through the winding lanes to traditional shops and cafés. Shaped by its status as an important seaport, you’ll find plenty of seafood on the menus. Listen to the babble of languages and you’ll soon appreciate the diversity of cultures; Galway is also known as “City of Equals” for its promotion of respect and understanding. The sights and smells of 19th century Ireland are all around you here.
When it comes to food on the island of Ireland, you need to start at the very beginning. The purity of the natural produce here has made the island one of the most talked-about food destinations in Europe. Green pastures, deep valleys and abundant waters surrounding the island create outstanding natural flavours that you won’t get anywhere else. From sublime smoked salmon to the creamiest butter imaginable, Ireland’s food boasts an impeccable provenance and can be best enjoyed here – in the very place it comes from.

pie and a Guinness – like nowhere else

Ireland is in the thick of an Irish whiskey renaissance. Super-fashionable and with a great mix of new, artisan and heritage brands, it’s all about whiskey with an extra ‘e’ right now. Distilleries in Ireland are creating some of the world’s finest whiskies, whether blended, single malt or single pot still, and with atmospheric old whiskey bars, intriguing whiskey tours and new brands launching all the time, there’s never been a better time to visit the home of what the Irish call “uisce beatha” – water of life.
Discover natural treasures and thrilling wildlife experiences as you take a walk on the wild side. Dolphins, golden eagles, fallow and red deer... the island of Ireland's indigenous wildlife is both fascinating and accessible. A seal who pops up out of the ocean and crawls across the road for his daily snack, the Irish wolfhounds that roam a castle's grounds, and a friendly dolphin who has made his home in a quaint Kerry village... Say hello to some of Ireland's wild and wonderful residents.

Few things in life are as thrilling as coming face-to-face with the world's largest creatures. The diverse waters around West Cork are a feeding ground for whales, and a year-round home for dolphins. The residents of Connemara in County Galway hold fast to the old ways, and sheep farmers still walk the hills and valleys to tend to their flocks. Watch sheep being sheared, enjoy sheep-dog training and even try a bit of turf cutting, if you want to get your hands dirty!
A timeless landmark, The Shelbourne Hotel, Dublin’s grande dame and flagship 5 star hotel, is a contemporary take on the past.

Located at the heart of Dublin on the city’s grandest square, St. Stephen’s Green, the hotel is just a few minutes walk from Dublin’s most famous landmarks – Trinity College, Dáil Éireann, and the National Gallery, Museum and Library – as well as Grafton Street shopping and cultural areas of the city.

October 16, 2019: The last day to submit Vendor Partner points. - NO EXCEPTIONS

November 4, 2019: Registration must be completed through the Passport To Paradise website.
TERMS & CONDITIONS

The Passport to Paradise program runs from September 1, 2018 through August 31, 2019 and is available to authorized Paramount dealers only. The appropriate salesperson’s name must be listed on the drawing request form in order for that salesperson to accumulate “drawing points”. Drawing points are only an estimate of potential verified points. Paramount’s CAD department must draw all PCC2000, PCC3000, PV3, PVR, Cyclean, Vanquish, Vanish, Pool Valet, and Vantage systems in order for drawing points to accrue. Points are accrued from the CAD layout only. Drawings must include a completed drawing request form. Builders organizing their own pool layout must still submit drawings and drawing request forms showing the number of nozzles, valves, canisters and other necessary information to Paramount. To verify points, Paramount will compare the total accrued points by drawing to the total points by purchase. Paramount’s verified point totals are final. Points are not confirmed and valid until the product is purchased from Paramount. The ownership of the company accrues 2% of the total product dollars purchased in “Owner Points”. The 2% Owner’s Points does not apply for product purchased through distribution. Owners can transfer any and all of the “Owner Points” and their own “salesperson Points” toward sending their top Paramount in-floor salesperson(s). If no salespeople qualify on an individual basis, Paramount Pool & Spa Systems will award a trip to the top in-floor salesperson(s) (as long as there are enough total aggregate “salesperson” points to equal a trip). This can be either a ground or full trip. Paramount points can be tracked at www.paramountpassporttoparadise.com. Points must be used for the next year’s trip or they will be forfeited. Points accumulated through distribution purchases must be verified by the dealer providing Paramount copies of the distributor’s invoices. These invoices must be submitted by September 16, 2019. 2% owner points not available with distribution purchases. If an Owner earns a full trip for 2 with a combination of verified Paramount points, vendor points and 2% owner’s points and choose not to go on the trip, the points can be used as follows:

100% towards product credit (Paramount will issue in the form of an account credit) 100% towards rollover to the next year's trip. Points must be used for the next year’s trip or they will be forfeited. Paramount needs to be notified by November 30, 2019 if you would like your points in the form of a product credit. In accordance with Federal Law, individual participants are responsible for reporting the tax value of the trip and will receive a 1099-MISC for the fair market value of the trip. Please consult your tax advisor for any further information.

A completed W-9 Tax form must be received before any trip is awarded. All accounts must be paid current on November 30, 2019. If you qualify for a trip and register to go and then cancel, those points will be forfeited. Owner points are not eligible for any promotional points multiplier. Salesperson must be employed at the company where they earned the points to be able to qualify for the trip. Awards of the Passport to Paradise Trip(s) are subject to the Owner’s discretion.
